^{to} That Special Thing ^{is} The special thing that happened to me was when I was little I always wanted to play the piano so, one day my mom signed me up for lessons.
I was only about 5 or 6
when my mom told me that I was starting piano lessons. I was as happy as a millionaire ^{smile}

The name of my piano teacher is Miss Saks. She is very nice and said ~~that~~ I was going to grow up to be a very talented pianist.
I hope so. She also understands when I have difficult times... She will give lots of encouragement

After a couple weeks of piano lessons, Miss Saks told me about Nyssma.
Nyssma is when your teacher teaches you a song for a long time until you know it like the back of your smile

hand. Then your teacher will give you a day and you will have to go to a specific place and play your music in a separate room for a judge. After you play you would get a score. Then a couple days later you would get a medal.

When the day finally came I had a great judge. I was so nervous it felt like butterflies were in my stomach flapping their wings rapidly. I stepped in my room and played the piano like there was nothing to it. My judge admired me greatly. I admired me, too.

After a little while I found out that I got a perfect score. I was happy, my family was happy, and Miss Saks was happy.

I give great thanks to my parents for signing me up, and paying for lessons. Thanks to Miss Saks, for cooperating with my difficulties.

From that day on I felt as proud as gold.
